Run Report 2219 – Park Street, Henley Brook

Barrelina and Wimpy

Preamble: _Crivvens, jings and help ma boab

The lowest turnout of the year tonight on a very stormy winter night. Only 23 stalwarts turn up for the run with many MIA in warmer climes like Cocos & Christmas Islands and Broome. The West Coast Eagles game and the wet and stormy weather accounted for the rest who did not turn up tonight!

Barrelina is invited onto the crate to give the run instructions. The trail was laid but due to the rainstorms he has given Pole Polisher a map so the runners should follow him. Try to keep the calling and horn blowing to a minimum so as not to upset his neighbours and their dogs. There will be a drink stop.

The walkers are held back for their own directions, and it is very timely as they miss the initial downpour. A Left-handed circuit on the roads will get the walkers to the drink stop.

The Run:

The runners took off following Pole Polisher into the downpour. HardCase became the solitary FWB tonight but the walking pack were actually following his torch so they did a longer walk than they probably intended to do! The runners said that the run was pretty good considering the limitations of the area, but the road running was broken up by a bit of bush and some bridle trails. HardCase made it to the drink stop where two SCB's [Kazi and Voodoo] were already there. We were very lucky that the long run/walk was kept rain free apart from the initial downpour. RA Cookie took the credit of course! 4.8Km recorded by this FWB for the walking trail and Bravefart advised that for the runners it was long at about 10.5Km.

Note from absent OnSec: Oh, I'm so disappointed I missed this one!

Circle Up & Visitors/Returniks:

Visitors:

No Visitors tonight

Returniks:

No Returniks tonight

General Business:

Rooted provides a joke to allow those with an authorised dispensation to be seated. Troppo provides a back-up joke for his POME mates. DD to both.

Barrelina offers an accolade to his Co-hare Wimpy who stepped into the breach in place of Ampol who actually came out of home quarantine on Saturday so could have helped set the run on Monday.

Captain Hook takes the drink of his absent brother together with Wimpy. Good onya.

HardCase quells the rumour that Elf is absent tonight because his driver Precious is off on holiday. Actually, Elf was in hospital with acute appendicitis and had his appendix removed last week. He is home now and recovering.

Bravefart advised that he had heard from DV8 who had pulled out of haring his run on 30 August and asks for volunteers to fill the breach. Arseholio steps up to set the run on that date and is given a DD for being a good club man. Good onya.

Molly Dooker gives an accolade [is that the capital of South Australia asks Pole Polisher?] to all the runners tonight who kept a tight pack [he obviously was not talking about Kazi or Voodoo!].

GM C-Man follows up on his email from Boner and Slammer about the planned weekend run at Southern Cross. The Palace Hotel has been booked and it will cost A$100 with an additional $30 for the run fee. Any monies left over will be put across the bar.

Charges:

Rooted offers an accolade to RA Cookie for keeping the run mostly dry tonight. C-Man says that is in his job description so not really a valid accolade.

Cookie tells a story but is actually a joke that is a bit too subtle for most of us with the punch line "it's a cheap price toupee"! Get it – No I didn't think so! Need some coaching from Barrelina methinks!

Stir charges tonight's Van driver Molly Dooker with exposing him to a scary experience as a passenger tonight. Something about confusing wipers with indicators, getting in the wrong lane and talking to Voodoo in the next lane. Instead of guiding the Van to the run location Voodoo leaves it in his dust. Voodoo comes forward and tries to defend his actions but after 10 minutes oration he had not yet crossed Wanneroo Road so he was cut short in his prime by the circle with a DD song. War and Peace is a short story to Voodoo.

GM C-Man charges Barrelina and Wimpy for dipping into their own esky for beers [I'm surprised that there were any left!] rather than help keep the Club solvent by using their beer tokens. DD to them.

GM C-Man then charges Rooted for making it to the drink stop by leaving his mate Captain Hook behind. He was actually being looked after by Baron. DD to him.

Wimpy tries to get even by charging the Cookie for encouraging GM C-Man to avoid the Bring A Can concoction last week and dipping into food brought by the privileged few who shall remain nameless. Wimpy believes that there should be no divisions in the Club but Cookie claims that is incorrect as there will always be the rich and the poor!. DD Cookie.

WOW:

The Real RA Cookie gets his time on the crate and calls forward the current WOW, Kazi, and asks if he has any nominees this week for the WOW? Kazi who needs further prompting to address the circle not the RA, has no nominations but suggests that the RA should pick him or Wimpy as that would make life easiest for him.

- Wimpy in an effort to divert the RA's attention tries to nominate the Hare Barrelina for trying to set the run using his car. Barrelina reckons that is scraping the bottom of the barrel and proceeds to do just that!
- With that failed nomination Wimpy now nominates Stir for charging his mate this week's Van driver, Molly Dooker, when he was accommodating in giving Stir a lift home from the Hash lunch on Friday as it was pouring rain.

That works and Stir is the WOW. DD to the outgoing and incoming WOW's.

Run Report:

Baron is asked by the GM C-Man to do the Run Report on behalf of the walking pack. He said it was a long left handed rectangular loop that was a bit long for him especially with Captain Hook in tow. He awards it 5/10 +1 for the drink stop +1 for the nibbles = 7/10.

Replicar does the honours for the runners who said that it was quite well set given the limitations of the area and the wet start. The drink stop was mint and he had heard that we are having stew tonight so gives the run a score of 8/10.

Ice:

No lucky hashers tonight – be careful next week!

Next Week's Run: MelAdjusted – At Woodford Park, Linwood

Next week's Van driver: Mase

Hash Lunch:

Wimpy gives a report on last Friday's Hash Lunch which was well organised by Tagg even though his directions were a bit ropey. There were about 9 or 10 there and the food and entertainment was good and he gives Tagg 9/10 for his efforts. Apparently Stir was not the only one who cadged a lift home from Molly Dooker as Wimpy did too. DD Wimpy.

Hares Act

Barrelina in his own inimitable [another big word – check it on Google!] and slightly inebriated style does his stand up comedian routine with a few good, nay great jokes, even those with the second telling. To tell them all in the Rag even if I could remember them would take up too much space – you had to be there in the moment! The laughter was flowing and that in itself is good for the soul.

I'll give you one example:- A Nun on hearing labourers on a high rise building using offensive language goes to talk to them. She says "do any of you know Jesus Christ" and this is relayed up the building. When asked why say "his Mother is here with his lunch"!

Song:

Arseholio leads us all into Raise Your Mugs to close the circle.
